Purpose

This document offers up-to-date information and resources for individuals living in the rough in the 30 communities known as the Franklin County and the North Quabbin Region of Western Massachusetts and for those who wish to support them throughout the year.

It has been prepared by the Opioid Task Force of Franklin County and the North Quabbin on behalf of the Franklin County and North Quabbin Emergency Services for Unhoused Individuals Task Force.

If you have corrections, revisions, or additions to this document, please email info@opioidtaskforce.org. It will be updated monthly.

The Franklin County and North Quabbin Emergency Services for Unhoused Individuals Task Force meets on Zoom on the second Monday of each month from 9:30 am to 10:30 am. Please email info@opioidtaskforce.org if you would like to join this community-based and solution-oriented effort to support our unhoused residents.

A Regional Approach: The HUB Project

The Franklin County and the North Quabbin Region encompass 30 municipalities across nearly 1,000 square miles.

The HUB Project (Humanity, Understanding, and Belonging) was created to expedite emergency services for unhoused individuals across our rural region year-round via four hubs and “anchor agencies.”

These four hubs are centered in:

- Athol
- South County
- Greenfield
- Shelburne

Subsequent pages outline the resources available in each regional “hub” and contact information.

Information on how to access gear and goods by “hub” can be found on page 8.

Mobile outreach services have also been identified, and can be found here and on page 10.

How to Stay Warm on Cold Winter Nights if You are Homeless

Co-authored by Dan Bodner; Last Updated: October 18, 2025.

During the cold winter months, it can be very difficult to stay warm living on the street. Choosing your clothing and shelter carefully can help. If you don't (or can't) choose to go to a shelter at night, looking for an appropriate place to sleep can also be the difference between staying warm and freezing.

Part 1: Dressing Yourself for Cold

- Dress in layers. The best way to do this is [to] work on collecting your layers year round. Whenever you find a warm winter coat someone else has thrown away, hold on to it. It will come in handy during the winter, and can be used as a pillow or to lay on other times of the year. Think about using a plastic bag over you if you don't have a waterproof layer -- if you get wet, you get cold.[1]
- Use insulation techniques. You can insulate yourself with multiple layers, but if you're still cold, try newspaper. By crumpling it up and stuffing it between layers of clothing, you can create insulating pockets of air that will help keep you warm. You could also try foam pieces or blankets between your clothing, both of which are much warmer than newspaper. Plastic bags also work well. If you have nothing else, dry leaves will even work. Don't use fiberglass insulation (often pink fibers between layers of paper, used in houses). The tiny glass fibers will cut your skin and could cause infection.
- Don't forget your feet. Wear multiple socks on cold nights. Before it gets cold, work on finding boots that cover your whole foot, ankle, and part of your leg. Keeping your feet and lower legs protected from cold wind is essential to staying warm. If you are really cold, you might need to create layers of insulation on your feet, perhaps even including plastic bags. Make sure you go to bed with dry socks on.[2]

If you don't (or can't) choose to go to a shelter at night, looking for an appropriate place to sleep can also be the difference between staying warm and freezing.

Part 2: Collecting Supplies

- Stockpile blankets and sleeping bags. Keep an eye out for blankets and sleeping bags during summer and fall that might have been discarded in trash cans, before you really need them. These will be essential when you are sleeping outside, but can also keep you warm in a car or in a more protected shelter. Wrap yourself with blankets and then get into the sleeping bag for maximum warmth.
- Look for a tent if you know you are staying outside. Sometimes people throw tents away with only minor holes or rips -- look at campsites or other places where people have put up tents. Some people don't want to sleep indoors, even when it's freezing. To make sure you have some kind of shelter outside, think about trying to find a tent for yourself. If you can't find one, stringing up blankets from trees can help create a makeshift shelter.
- Find a metallic survival blanket. These are often handed out at the end of a marathon or other long run and then are quickly discarded. Collect a few of these (they are very light and easy to fold up) for winter nights. Cover the torso area of your sleeping bag with the survival blankets.[3]
- Collect plastic bags. You will need to keep your clothing and bedding dry and protected from the elements. Plastic bags of all sizes will help you keep your possessions in good shape, no matter the weather. You can even use them as a liner to help keep your feet warmer (and prevent your boots from getting damp with sweat). Try to find a big one to use as a poncho so your outer layer doesn't get wet in rain or snow.
- Look for a mat that will protect you from the cold ground. Foam pieces are going to be the best. Air mattresses or pads will easily transmit the cold to your body.

If you don't (or can't) choose to go to a shelter at night, looking for an appropriate place to sleep can also be the difference between staying warm and freezing.

Part 3: Getting Your Body Warm

- Eat right before bed. Try to get hot food right before you go to sleep. The meal can help you warm up and keep you warm enough to get into bed while your body still has heat. Keep in mind that fattier foods are going to be better for keeping you warm. Try these kinds of foods:[4] Cheese, Canned beans, Cream of Mushroom, or Cream of Chicken Soup
- Go to bed when you're warm. If it's cold outside and you are cold going to bed, you're not going to be able to warm yourself up. Do what it takes to get warm before you get under your blankets or into the sleeping bag. Run around, windmill your arms, do jumping jacks -- any of these could get your body warm enough.[5]
- Keep moving. On particularly cold nights, you might have to stay awake and in motion to stay warm. A body in motion creates heat and will help you keep warm. If this means moving around during the night and resting during the day, that may be a trade-off you will have to make. However, you must be cautious not to overheat and start sweating. When you sweat, you leave moisture trapped in your clothing and on your skin, which can cool you down.
- Don't let your sleeping materials get damp. Wet blankets and sleeping bags in the cold are not going to dry. If you have a sleeping bag, try not to even breathe into it -- it can get it damp quite easily. Package your sleeping materials in plastic bags during the day so that they won't get wet. Also, avoid setting up camp close to water -- it will blow around and get your sleeping materials wet.

Part 4: Finding Shelter

- Look for a designated winter shelter. In regions where the weather gets extremely cold in the winter, most local governments set up shelters for winter in churches and other community buildings. These are only open on the coldest nights. Look for postings around town that will tell you which buildings are designated.
- Check homeless shelters for [a] room. Homeless shelters typically fill up quickly in the winter months, so if you want to sleep in one for the night, you will probably need to line up early. Many churches and other community organizations operate shelters to help people in need.[6]
- Find alternate shelters. If you are not able to or do not want to go to a shelter, find a good place to sleep. This can include overhangs that will protect you from rain or alleyways that are out of the wind. In extreme circumstances, you may have to find an area that is warm, even if it is not permissible for you to be there; this can include hallways in apartment complexes, subways, public buildings, or even unoccupied housing units. When you sleep at night, be sure it is somewhere warm. Hypothermia can set in while you are sleeping if you lack adequate warmth.

Three County Continuum of Care 2023 & 2024 Point-in-Time Data by County

2023 PIT

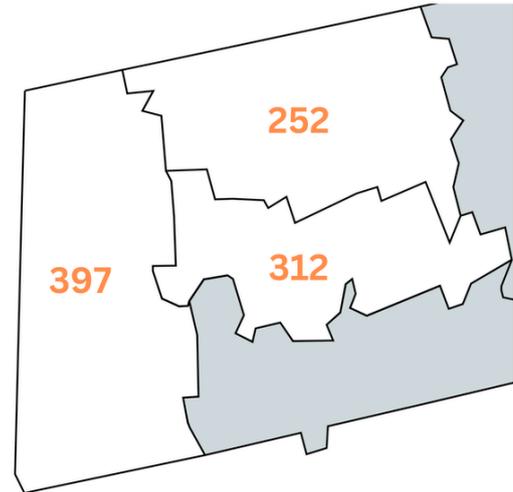

County Breakdown

Of those experiencing homelessness in the Three County region, 622 were experiencing homelessness per the HUD definition of being in shelter or literally outside and 39 people were experiencing homelessness not under HUD's definition. This includes people who were couch surfing or doubled up, living at a hotel or motel paid for with their own funds, and people in institutional facilities who otherwise do not have a place to stay.

2024 PIT

County Breakdown

Of those counted experiencing homelessness in the Three County region, 961 were experiencing homelessness per the HUD definition of being in shelter or literally outside and 68 people were experiencing homelessness not under HUD's definition. This includes people who were couch surfing or doubled up, living at a hotel or motel paid for with their own funds, and people in institutional facilities who otherwise do not have a place to stay.

The number of those experiencing homelessness has more than doubled between 2023 and 2004 in Franklin County. We suspect this figure is much higher as the Point-In-Time Count is conducted primarily in Montague and Greenfield. It does not include Athol or other communities in the North Quabbin region located in Worcester County.

Tips to Stay Cool in Hot Weather

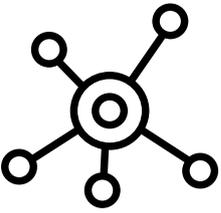

Courtesy of the City of Greenfield, below are some tips to stay cool during hot weather.

Individuals can find cooling centers in other communities by calling 211. Everyone is urged to take steps to prevent heat-related illnesses and injuries, including:

- Never leave children or pets alone in a closed vehicle. Even with the windows cracked open, interior temperatures can rise almost 20°F within 10 minutes.
- Slow down and avoid strenuous activity.
- Wear lightweight, loose-fitting, light-colored clothing. Light colors reflect heat and sunlight and help maintain normal body temperature.
- Drink plenty of water — even if you are not thirsty. Avoid alcoholic beverages and liquids high in sugar or caffeine. If your doctor generally limits the amount of fluid you drink, ask how much you should drink during hot weather.
- Stay indoors as much as possible and limit exposure to the sun. Do not leave pets outside for extended periods of time.
- If you must be outdoors, limit your outdoor activity to the morning and evening hours. Try to rest often in shady areas so your body temperature can recover. Use sunscreen with a high SPF and wear a wide-brimmed hat.
- Eat light, well-balanced meals.

West County Sheltering - Part 1

How Best to Create a Year-Round Shelter	How Best to Create a Seasonal Shelter	How Best to Create a Day/Warming/Cooling Shelter
Setting up multiple centers with coordinators linking people not just to open beds, but the right open beds, taking into account trauma history and life-styles	Trinity Church in Shelburne Falls may have done something like this	Farm or other informal housing options that will provide shelter in exchange for work
First offer public transportation up in the hill towns so individuals can access shelter	Three season camping ground to support homeless individuals	What are current drop-in/day centers that folks are using? Churches, libraries, senior centers, community centers?
Instead of putting a shelter in an urban center, put it on a farm with robust transportation to drug courts, unemployment etc. A different look than normal shelters, and more trauma informed.	Analysis of rules/regs that make it more possible for rural areas to provide support to unhoused individuals [e.g. mixed use].	Offer a day drop-in center to get hygiene supplies food pantry bus passes, etc.
Continued - Post prison release, unemployment/under-employment, medical crises etc. And it seems that there should be shelters that focus on those issues, including ones for 18-24 year olds/chronic homeless.	Provide transportation to shelters or overflow shelter options in other areas.	Find a way to decentralize and destigmatize people without homes, incentivize public spaces [businesses, community spaces] to welcome folks to use their space.

West County Sheltering - Part 2

I believe there are people in the area who are in abusive situations but nowhere else to go.	Assess those informal helping networks and/or individuals that provide safe spaces for unhoused individuals in West County - a series of "safe houses"?	Connect to existing mobile outreach services to places in the Hilltowns?
Assess if there is a regional entity/property that could have an engagement center for unhoused individuals so they can check mail, get a shower, etc.	Analyze existing spaces (e.g. farms) that could play this role versus creating a space that needs more financial support, staffing, etc.	Church offering wet/line up shelter, having a certain time to be in and out each day and on a first come first serve basis even if actively using drugs.
I was thinking about shelter, and it just feels too generic and all-encompassing. With the exception of maybe chronic homeless individuals, most fall under substance abuse.	Inventory what is available to support unhoused individuals in the Hilltowns.	Make sure that current de facto spaces are well connected to resources/services/shelter services.
What is the current state of homelessness in west county? are people camping out or couch surfing? are there particular areas in west county that have a number of folks who are homeless?		Engagement Center...look at the Drug Court/Treehouse Foundation model as a way to work in a trauma-informed way with unhoused individuals

Sheltering - Part 3

How Best to Create a Year-Round Shelter	How Best to Create a Seasonal Shelter	How Best to Create a Day/Warming/Cooling Shelter
Ensure transportation to any shelter location developed, as well as making it in a central location.		Churches, libraries, not in use schools.
low-cost camping ground in West County to help support those in needs of shelter.		Access to information about existing services/info is limited for those "informal helping networks" such as libraries.
It seems very hard to imagine a year-round shelter in west county given population size and funding. I wonder if there could be a robust outreach and transportation system to help folks get to shelters in Greenfield or other areas.
Create a 24/7 wet, lineup shelter somewhere in the hill towns that can be accessible with public transportation.

West County Coordination - Part 1

How Increased Coordination of Systemic Services Could Prevent Someone From Being Unhoused	How Services Could Be Triaged to Prevent Someone From Becoming Unhoused or Better Support Individuals If They Are Unhoused
Clear knowledge of what services exist and who provides them could help reduce gaps in care	a 1-800# for immediate response
People may not come forward due to feelings of shame. Centralized supports (hotline) could lessen these feelings.	Introducing the conversation is a first step to better supporting people. Acknowledging the realities in root causes of becoming unhoused and making sure folks know of resources for prevention as well as intervention (shelter etc)
Incentive programs for landlords to preserve tenancy at the state level... tax write offs for folks who have had the same tenant for 5 yr etc.... dreaming!	for those who become unhoused: we need more coordination for the access to shelter and immediate safety-planning.
Theme: Meeting people where they're at	A "HUB" /Resource center/access to showers and sanitation/lockers

How Increased Coordination of Systemic Services Could Prevent Someone From Being Unhoused	How Services Could Be Triaged to Prevent Someone From Becoming Unhoused or Better Support Individuals If They Are Unhoused
Bringing services to where people are instead of expecting them to search	triage services training for outreach workers
trainings for housing authority staff re: Trauma informed care	Creating safe places in the community where people can feel safe talking about the things that might cause them to become unhoused
prevention services and more awareness of what those services are.	Theme: prevention
one stop shops to access services to effect/support the needs of maintaining housing for those at risk of losing their housing	increased housing production
outreach to landlords re: equity	Compile a list of advocates
Brainstorming around the role of EMS/911, however, they have had past frustrations. Need accountability around answering the phone	increased shelter beds and population specific shelters increased mental health services	--> CSP: Community Support People [located in CHD, CSO, ServiceNet, etc]. Help make calls, develop & follow person-driven plan increasing the number of mobile outreach services to provide access to resources that may exist... fuel assistance, RAFT, other funding	Prevention first -- education, similar to how we teach people to engage with advocates when DCF is involved to create a plan. Normalize [ugh, shouldn't be normal] the conversation about housing challenges.

Could outreach happen via text?

Basic Human Needs - Part 2

Health Services Needed	Food/Meal Services Needed	Other Desired Services
Barriers to accessing basic human needs initially, as basic computer skills are needed to access basic needs services [e.g. digital equity].	Create a basic needs kit - water bottle, Narcan, weather resistant wallet card of resources, hand sanitizer, Dial soap, masks, check on best ways to distribute socks, underwear, toothpaste	Laundry services
Basic skills training for self advocacy	Tablets for mobile outreach workers who can offer support/resources in real time.	What about a relationship with a camp ground? Is it possible to have supportive camping sites? Basic needs could be addressed by the supports onsite?
Inventory where physicals can be done [e.g. SUD Clinic, CHCFC, and Bridge Primary Care [Dr. Singer]	Help with signing up for food stamps	Pop-up clothing shop - twice a year? Spring/Fall
This is why the CHW role is so essential. People need to be assessed for a whole series of needs.	Info kiosks located at comfort stations	Free clothing - seasonal and reliable clothing for living in the rough.
Translators for basic communication	Compile list of meals/food for unhoused individuals	Tent and sleeping bag repair kits
Offer haircuts one day a month, shave, shampoo...	Check to see if there is an app where mobile outreach services could be tracked	Birthday kits [e.g. for individuals and/their child] - cupcake

	Lack of prep kitchen for unhoused individuals	Reliable luggage, storage for clothing.
	What snacks/water are provided by mobile outreach workers?	First aid kit [include Narcan]
	Transportation to food pantries and community meals	Places to check mail, get devices charged.

North/Central County Sheltering - Part 1

Incentives for staffing shelter programs... sign on bonuses, support for staying in the job long term	Related to all three questions: Staffing is an issue across the board	From discussion: A shelter is a place meant to sleep (more residential). A cooling or warming center denotes it is not a space to sleep, it is a place without beds
a year-round emergency shelter exists in Greenfield... could it be expanded to include more beds?	Collaboration across agencies will lead to best outcomes for folks. This is related to capacity as well, but this piece is important because no 1 shelter can do address all of this	Important to pay attention to the challenges that come in summer/intense heat, just as much as we do in the winter with the cold
Community Support/Awareness/Collaborations	Securing funding and finding an appropriate space is the biggest barrier	it seems like an overnight warming center can be an effective nightly overflow option...
how can transportation be provided to people in areas outside of Greenfield to be able to get to a shelter or a safe place to stay?	Common theme: capacity building. Analogy shared around resettlement of refugees. You have people step up in unexpected ways. Shared sense of responsibility	How do we triage people who are not allowed in these spaces? Esp. those who have changed lifestyles and these past behaviors are from a long time ago
Need variety of sheltering options with various levels of support	On other slide as well, but need plan for triaging folks who are not "allowed"/on black list from services	Space identified, CERT team to be activated to oversee, providers lined up for collaboration ahead of time

[Implement] multiple shelter models	This "list" is longer than people realize	Find a location large enough to provide laundry, shower, dining, other resource providers, etc.
Collaborative systems to help shelter provide transportation, food, education, financial literacy, access to training for living wage employment, advocacy/navigation services	On staffing, common theme of interagency - we're seeing [staffing] issues with SUD/ODU treatment centers too	Re: emergency shelters when widespread lack of electricity. Someone who was homeless said: "so, its an emergency when people don't have electricity in their house, but its NOT when people don't have a house"
More providers/partners	Again, how do we share ownership? This is too big for one agency	How can we look at other regions/cities and learn from them [i.e. churches that are able to open up]
Shelter brick and mortar with more beds, campground options to expand in summer months	How do we build capacity? Similar to fundraising efforts... have volunteer chain ready to go
In house support (case management,) to support with long term goals, onsite therapeutic support, staffing with incentives to maintain consistency to help with building professional relationships and engagement	Sheltering should not be seen as an end-point. Need the connection to housing so that more space can be opened up when folks transition out

Wells St: in winter, using a nightly model	Emergency Planning in municipalities exist... Can this same response be ready/utilized? Note: CERT Teams [certified emergency response team]
Ex: "Barrack" spaces & bedroom models, 'motel' models, nightly models,	Survivors have been place on no-rent lists, and this is due to behaviors not by them...
We need to set a standard that community partners & stakeholders contribute to the establishment and maintenance of sheltering options.	Need more capacity at both ends of the sheltering spectrum including the overflow capacity and the low threshold housing side so everyone who needs a shelter can get in and also move on.
what is the 24/7/365 triage/diversion system to help folks who need shelter?	Choice is important. People should be able to choose their preferred service --> relates back to needing multiple different models and emphasis on low-threshold
Expand the Well St. shelter... physical space/larger property? Add on-site case management	Takeaway for all kinds of sheltering: multiple agencies collaboration

Short-Term or Transitional Housing Services Needed	Supportive Housing Services Needed	How Unhoused Individuals Could Be Rapidly Rehoused
Integrated short-term housing services with SUD services	More Permanent supportive housing options, more apartments available in that category	Move to Brattleboro or another area where housing first models are progressing
Transitional housing services for all ages, not only for specific age brackets	Longer expiration date for vouchers as it takes a while to find a housing solution	Housing First models allow for stable environments for individuals that struggle with BH/MH concerns
Provide more beds for young adults, as well as older adults	Communication regarding how to seek financial assistance with first, last and security (i.e. publicizing about RAFT)	Housing first models in Massachusetts
Hotel vouchers while waiting for more permanent housing	Although housing navigators are a great resource, it is a challenge if there's no housing available regardless of the position	Quick fix to housing inventory: tiny houses, pallet houses, shipping containers
Transitional housing supports for individuals not ready for a sober housing solution	More housing supports close to resources and the community hub	Not limiting access to housing supports....regardless of a person's active drug use or other elements of their life
Specialized housing services for those with mental illness to improve ability to succeed in the long term	Discrimination/stigma with individuals who have vouchers	Large acreage for housing options and ways for people to build on the land
